

MESSENGER

Use Messenger to connect to your higher power, or to go within and connect to your own source of power.

Messenger can help you deliver your prayers and meditations into the Great Void from which all things come into manifestation.

For example, if you're praying for members of your family in a disaster area to have strength and courage, Messenger would be the courier for that prayer's energy flow.

Remembering that what we send out will come back multiplied, Messenger teaches us to use energy and our imagination so that we're not inadvertently sending negative or harmful wishes to others that will bring negative consequences back to us.

Messenger carries energy flow from prayer and meditation to its intended destination.
