WOODY,
UPLIFTING,
REJUVENATING

Rosewood Essential Oil is useful for lifting depression, fighting frigidity and impotence, and for skin rejuvenation. It has excellent cell stimulant and tissue regenerative properties, making it a valuable ingredient in mature skin care products. It is also excellent for wound and cut healing.

When feeling overburdened by the world, Rosewood Essential Oil can lift your spirits and have a balancing effect on the mind and body. It is used with good results in reducing headaches, colds, coughs, fever and infections, and is a boost for the immune system.

Rosewood creates peace and security, and can be used in chakra balancing. It opens the inner ear and compassion. When the inner ear opens, our creativity peaks and expands all the chakras in the body, but specifically the Heart Chakra.

The Heart Chakra holds the emotions of grief, sadness, and loss. This is why Rosewood Essential Oil has been associated with alleviating depression. Mixed with other Essential Oils, Rosewood can be very effective for releasing abusive memories whether from verbal, mental, or physical abuse.
